

Interim Head of Water and Physiology (m/f)

IHR PARTNER FÜR DIE

About our customer

Our customer aims to change how water is consumed by putting human needs first. He is creating the first smart home appliance that enables users to create healthy mineral water at home. He defines healthy water as water free of contaminants and full of nutrients.

He works in two simple steps: first, tap water is purified through a proprietary technology based on distillation achieving very high levels of purity. After the purification, the water is enhanced through a unique, patent pending mineralisation process. In this process, purified water flows through a cartridge which contains several layers of mineral ingredients. Its long-term strategy is to offer best water to every human, personalized to his or her needs.
